

ACTION OF THAW SURPRISES FAMILY

Mother of Stepchildren Up in Arms at Receiver.

"WHAT OF FAMILY NAME?"

Aristocratic Pittsburghers Take Exception to Selection of Detective to Manage Harry's Affairs with Two Saloon Keepers as Bondsmen. Mother Holds the Whip Hand.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 9.—The action of Harry K. Thaw in taking application for a receiver has caused a rift within the Thaw family.

The aristocratic stepchildren of Mrs. William Thaw do not relish matters as they now stand, and would like to see Roger O'Mara removed from the position as receiver.

Mrs. William Thaw, Alice and Margaret Thaw, and Harry K. Thaw did not take counsel with other members of the family when it was decided to have application made for a receivership. The receivership was a complete surprise to the children of William Thaw by a former wife, and their business representative, Frank Semple, is out with a statement that he does not think O'Mara will do.

One of the stepchildren is reported to have said: "What a detective as receiver and possibly as trustee, with two saloon keepers as bondsmen! Where is the Thaw name being dragged to, anyway?"

The Thaw family, apart from the mother and two full sisters of Harry, might object to O'Mara being made the trustee, as is now intended.

Hold Whip Hand. Any such fight would be fruitless, as O'Mara and Mrs. William Thaw hold the whip hand. Under the bankruptcy laws of Pennsylvania, creditors are permitted to vote on the question of the trustee's selection in proportion to the amounts of their claims. The claims of Mrs. William Thaw and O'Mara combined will be found to total a trifle more than all the rest of the creditors, so they will be able to control the election of a trustee as they see fit.

John Newell, one of the bondsmen for O'Mara, is the millionaire owner of "Newell's," Pittsburgh's big cafe.

Newell is a quiet character and occasionally much amusement at the office of the clerk of the United States Court when he was signing the bond for $20,000 by insisting that the clerk make the bond for $20,000, instead of $20,000.

It is now stated that it was on the advice of David T. Watson, of Pittsburgh, one of the leading corporation lawyers of the country, that the bankruptcy proceedings were started.

THAW DISCUSSES PAYMENTS.

Says Delmas Got a Total of $50,000 for His Services.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Harry K. Thaw read the New York newspapers to-day, and afterward talked with reporters, to whom he said that he was not responsible for the statements and opinions advanced by others, and did not feel called upon to comment upon them. Thaw explained how he felt in this way:

"In the morning's papers I read that Mr. O'Reilly makes a claim for more money. That is a matter for Gov. Stone to take charge of. There seems to be no reason for me to discuss the different claims, and therefore I have nothing more to say except regarding one fact.

The sums already expended and the law- yers and others to whom I paid them were clearly stated in the newspapers, and there is only this much to add: Besides the heavy total of about $40,000 that I paid out myself, my mother paid $50,000 additional to Mr. Hartigan, making $95,000 received by his firm prior to April 18, 1907. She also made a present of $25,000 to Mr. Delmas. This made, with his actual fee paid by me, $50,000 in all that he received for his services.

Mr. Delmas' bill for expenses was less than $1,000, and is included in the $20,000 item for detectives and sundries."

THAW IS SANE, SAYS EVANS.

Allegation Who Invented "Brain Storm" Would Release Patient.

New York, Aug. 9.—Dr. Britton D. Evans, of the New York State Hospital at Morris Plains, who invented the "brain storm" theory at Thaw's first trial, and whom A. Russell Peabody, of Thaw's counsel, requested a few days ago not to call Thaw "a case," said to-day that he had no intention to make any adverse criticism of the step Thaw has taken in filing his petition in bankruptcy.

"After about two years' contact with Mr. Thaw, and after many careful medical examinations of him," said Dr. Evans, "I am personally of the opinion that his continued restraint is a gross injustice to him, his business interests, and to his family. I believe that Thaw desires to properly and honestly adjust all the claims against him, and I have an opportunity to do so. In his dealings with me he has at no time exhibited a disposition to the contrary."

It was not aware that he intended to make the application he has made, nor did I attempt to pass upon the merits of the claims presented by all the other claimants. I am familiar with the claims of him, a very few, and have no criticism to make of any of them through the columns of the press, nor am I in a position speaking of them as a whole, to state that they are fair and just. I do know that the claimants intimately associated with me in the defense of Mr. Thaw did much hard scientific work in an effort to properly set forth before the court and jury the scientific facts as they understood them. I am sure Mr. Thaw knows this and appreciates it, and that he and his family will give their claims proper consideration."

DISASTER STOLE HIS REASON.

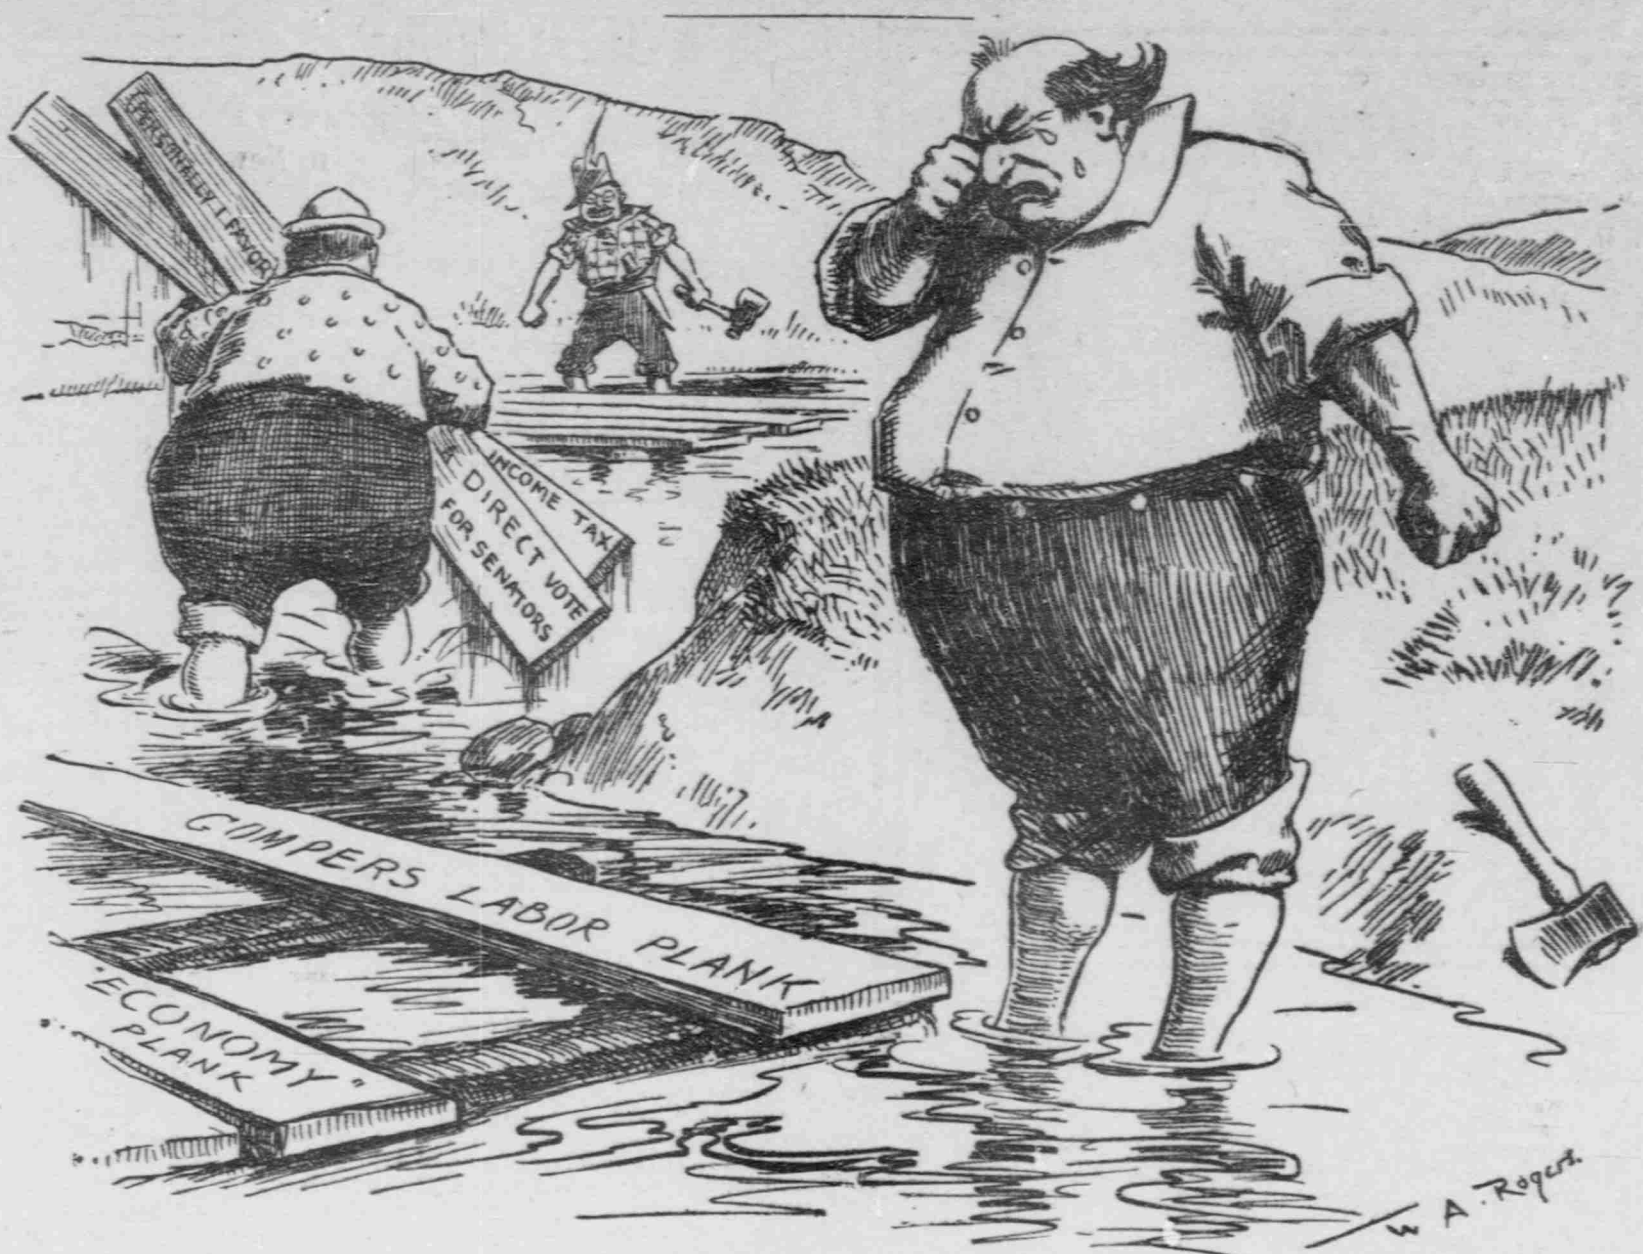

Engineer a Maniac After Fatal Railroad Accident.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 9.—Brooding over an accident in which his fireman was killed, and holding himself to blame for the same, John Bonavitch, of Kingston, near here, one of the best-known engineers on the Lackawanna Railroad, was to-day committed to the insane asylum at Danville.

Bonavitch had charge of a switching engine in the yards at Washington, N. J. About a month ago his engine collided with another engine in the yards, and in the wreck which resulted James Hull, of Newton, N. J., who was Bonavitch's fireman, was so badly injured that he died the next day.

The accident, and especially the death of his fireman, so preyed upon the mind of the engineer that he fled from Washington, and nothing was heard of him for three weeks, or until a week ago, when he appeared at his home, in Kingston, a raving maniac.

STEALING HIS PLANKS.

CHINESE HELD ON SHIP.

Celestials Try to Get Into United States Unsuccessfully.

Philadelphia, Aug. 9.—Three Chinamen are prisoners aboard the steamer Mongolian, which docked here to-night.

In broken English, they told the tale of their many unsuccessful attempts to gain entrance in the States.

They first went to Canada. For months they had attempted to get across the Canadian border. They made their way to St. Johns, N. F., and there heard of the sailing of the Mongolian, bound for Philadelphia. That night, just after 8 bells, the three Chinamen dropped aboard.

They were found by the ship's captain several days later. The captain tried to get rid of them in Halifax, but the authorities objected. There was nothing left for the skipper to do but proceed to this port.

When his ship docked he informed the immigration officials of the stowaways. Their fate will be officially decided upon Monday.

WARRANT SERVED ON DENTIST

Roanoke Man Accused of Attack on Woman Patient.

Uses Chloroform and Declares the Charge Is the Result of Hallucination.

Special to The Washington Herald. Roanoke, Va., Aug. 9.—A warrant, charging him with a felonious attack on one of his woman patients July 2, was to-day served on W. S. Gregory, a leading Roanoke dentist.

Gregory was released on $1,000 bail. When the alleged victim of Gregory recited her story to E. M. Coulter, president of the National Business College of Roanoke, and Lee Keedick, of New York, a manager of lecturers, they went to Gregory's office and beat him unmercifully.

When the police answered Gregory's cries of "Murder" and "Help!" it is said he requested them not to arrest Coulter and Keedick, saying it was a private matter.

The trial of Coulter and Keedick for feloniously assaulting Gregory occupied the police court two days, and the decision has not been handed down by Judge Bryan.

At that trial Keedick and Coulter recited the story told them by Gregory's alleged victim, and the woman repeated on the stand what she had recited to Keedick and Coulter. Gregory declared that he administered chloroform to the patient to enable him to better work on a tooth, and that the alleged attack made on her by him is nothing but an hallucination, the result of the drug.

Physicians testified that women, under the influence of chloroform, often imagine they have been insulted.

Dentists testified that the work Gregory did in this case, in their opinion, was not of a character demanding the use of chloroform.

FATHER RUSSELL CELEBRANT.

Washington Priest to Officiate at Bishop Curtis Memorial Mass.

Special to The Washington Herald. Wilmington, Del., Aug. 9.—Rev. William Russell, D. D., pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Washington, will deliver the sermon at the memorial mass, or "month's mind," which will be celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral here on Tuesday morning for the late Bishop Alfred A. Curtis, of Baltimore. Dr. Russell was a lifelong friend of the late prelate.

The celebration will be as solemn an event as was the funeral of the bishop from the Wilmington Cathedral several weeks ago. On the same day similar services will be held in the cathedral at Baltimore.

The services here will begin at 9 o'clock, with Very Rev. John A. Lyons, vicar general of the diocese, as celebrant. Bishop Monaghan, who succeeded Bishop Curtis as the head of the diocese of Wilmington, which comprises the Maryland, Virginia, and Delaware Peninsula, will be present and will occupy his throne in the sanctuary. Rev. John J. Dougherty, assistant to Vicar General Lyons, will be master of ceremonies.

The body of Bishop Curtis is buried in Wilmington.

Tennis Tournaments Start To-day.

Special to The Washington Herald. Cumberland, Md., Aug. 9.—The annual tournament of the Bedford Springs Tennis Club for the championship of Southern Maryland will be held to-morrow and following days. There will be a number of contests in men's singles and doubles, mixed doubles, and women's doubles. A number of handsome cups and other prizes which will be awarded are now on exhibition. Entries close on Saturday.

NEWS OF THE VIRGINIAS

POLITICAL AND OTHERWISE.

Representative Sherman will be notified August 13, at Utica, of his nomination for Vice President. Senator Burrows, who was temporary chairman of the Republican convention, will make the notification speech. Burrows might speak the intervening time practicing the pronunciation of Theodore Roosevelt's name for us on that occasion.—Virginia Free Press.

There is a movement on foot to secure funds for the erection of a Masonic memorial temple to George Washington at Fredericksburg, Va. The scheme originated in Fredericksburg Lodge, where the Father of His Country was made a Mason in 1752. The Bible which was used in the lodge when Washington took his degrees and the records of the lodge are still in existence. Masons from all over the country will be asked to contribute to the memorial fund.

One of the nice things about those farmers enjoying the State Institute meetings and excursion at Richmond is that the crops are growing right on while they play.—Roanoke Evening World.

Discussion of horse breeding at the Farmers' Institute was led by Hon. Westmoreland Davis, of Loudoun County, owner of the famous Park estate. He argued for the profitable breeding of the heavy draught horse in Virginia, and spoke at some length for the establishment of a State "stallion registration board" for the purpose of regulating, in some measure, the kind of stallions that may be used in the State. He said further, "The act should provide for the appointment in each senatorial district of a competent veterinarian, who, with a competent horseman, should pass at specified times and places within their jurisdiction upon the soundness and availability of stallions whose owners shall have made application to the stallion registration board for a license."

The residents of Parkersburg, W. Va., are making a strong effort to get permission from the United States government to construct a bridge across the river to Beltsville. If the request is granted, the bridge will be a permanent improvement to the city. The bridge will be a permanent improvement to the city. The bridge will be a permanent improvement to the city.

The annual report of the State Commissioner of Labor, L. V. Barton, is now in the press at Charleston, W. Va., and will be issued within the next ten days. It is the most complete that has ever been issued by the State, and deals with labor conditions in every detail.

The Fairmont Window Glass Factory is to light its fires at once, and about 150 men will be given work as soon as the glass is ready for blowing. This is good news to the people of Fairmont, as the factory has been closed down for some time.

Why is Vice Presidential nominee Sherman kept so much in the background? Are the campaign managers afraid to keep the head of the Utica foe prominently before the people?—Lynchburg Advance.

Col. C. P. E. Burwyn, of Richmond, has gone to West Virginia with a company of engineers to begin a survey for a railway line from West Point, on the York River, to Urbana, in Middlesex County, on the Rappahannock, a distance of about twenty-five miles. It was learned that the road is to be run with modern gasoline-electric motor cars, and will be a high-speed road, traversing a section of the State now free from modern transportation facilities. Northern capitalists are said to be back of the enterprise, and as soon as Col. Burwyn makes the preliminary survey and this is approved by those backing the movement, work on locating the line will be rushed at once and actual construction will be started as soon thereafter as the engineers are ready for the work.

Virginia's share of the recent appropriation made by Congress for the support of the various military organizations throughout the United States for the next fiscal year is $47,114.25. Col. E. M. Weaver, chief of the militia division of the War Department, makes this announcement:

"Under the requirements of paragraph 27 of the regulations of the department governing the organized militia, an amount has been set aside for the Virginia militia and must be devoted to that purpose. Any balance on hand June 30, 1908, will be carried forward to the next fiscal year for application to the same object."

The appropriation of $2,000,000 by the last Congress for the different military organizations was gained largely through the instrumentality of Senator Dick. This money is now available and will be used as necessary. The State troops come under the "Dick" law, and are now in many respects upon the same footing as the regular United States troops.

The annual conference in wage conditions affecting glass workers has just closed at Atlantic City. The results are gratifying in the whole to the workmen. The manufacturers have conceded the old scale of wages to the workmen, notwithstanding the reduction in the price of the output resulting from competition among the various plants throughout the country.

The scale and the working conditions of the agreement are the same as last year, and the working hours are not changed. Another concession was allowed by the manufacturers on account of a number of men being out of employment at the various plants throughout the country in the number of apprentices, which is to be one to every fifteen journeymen this year.

Those attending the conference representing West Virginia manufacturers were Mr. Henry Northwood, of the Northwood Glass Works, South Side; John Yeager, of the Central Glass Works, East Wheeling; and V. Wickey, of the Imperial, Beckley.

Conditions in the glass industry look more favorable than they have for some time past. The Northwood, which has been running with a small force, will resume full in a week's time, and prospects are good for its continued operation with a full force of employees.

The recent heavy rains have done much damage in various sections of King William County, Va. The Mattaponi River has been very high, and great quantities of lumber, ties, and wood have been washed away. Crops of corn, tobacco, and peas have been overflooded. The damage will probably run into the thousands of dollars.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Home Development Company of Phoenix, Va., resolutions for donating streets, alleys, and parks for public use were adopted. Four memorial stones, to be known as permanent markers and points of reference, have been established, thus doing away with one of the great troubles so often experienced by some of our best towns and cities. Seventy-five acres for factory sites, extending the entire length of the side tracks, have been reserved for enterprises wishing to locate in the new town.

Everything is being done to make Phoenix a wood working, and especially a furniture, town, and owing to the large amount of lumber available for this purpose, it should meet with success.

W. O. Taylor, of Lynchburg, whose success as an angler has made his companions on fishing expeditions envious, received a few days ago a unique present. The gift was from H. P. Woodson, of New York, and consists of a cigar, nine inches long and an inch and three-quarters in diameter, having upon it a label, naming it after the Democratic nominee for the Presidency, and a portrait of Col. Bryan. Mr. Taylor is keeping the monster cigar for his friend, Capt. Nick Smith, to try on their next fishing expedition.

We do not understand why the announcement of Mr. Wyndham R. Meredith, of Richmond, that he will vote for Taft should have caused such a stir in political circles. Mr. Meredith is a prominent lawyer, but he is in no sense a political leader, and he says that he never has voted for Bryan. Mr. Meredith admits also that he has been in sympathy with Roosevelt's policies. It seems to us, therefore, that in changing his party affiliation he did not have very far to go. He merely announces a change of heart that took place some time ago.—Newport News Times-Herald.

The Covington Dispatch says that it has not yet been made public who will "revise," "alter," or "change" entirely Mr. Bryan's speech of acceptance. "The announcement that part of the speech has been given to the printers rather leads us to believe that he is going to deliver his own speech when officially notified of his nomination."

Cal Huseelman, an expert and practical poultry raiser, made a most interesting and instructive address before the farmers' convention on the subject, "What poultry means to the farm." Among other things, he said:

"If you will work half as hard and fix your land, you can raise crops just as well as they can be grown between the Atlantic and Pacific. You have the advantage of climate, a more equable rainfall, and better markets than we who have lived away out there in the West. The fact is, if you Virginians worked as hard as they do in the West you wouldn't be able to grow pumpkins—the vines would grow so fast that they would drag the pumpkins on the ground and spoil them."

"You can conduct the poultry business successfully on a city lot or a country farm. It can be conducted by a man of moderate means, and there are such in Virginia. You farmers who don't think you are interested in the poultry business, how many of you have borrowed your wives' egg money to buy tobacco?"

"My hens can get along without the close attention I have to give milk cows, and I can take care of 1,500 hens with the same amount of labor required for five cows."

"Poultry is the best means of eradicating insects. A good turkey hen will keep bugs, worms, and pests out of a twenty-acre field. And a flock of young turkeys will eradicate a growth of wild onions if allowed to roam over the same field."

Four glass plants, employing in all nearly 1,000 men, will be at work at Clarkburg, W. Va., by August 22. The factories are the Tuna, West Park, Adamson, and Lafayette. The Lafayette started its fires last Saturday, and will begin work on the 22d. All the others will be at work by that time, and the great number of glass workers now idle in Clarkburg will practically all be employed.

So successful has the Elkins Planting Mill Company become under the management of Thomas Shaw, one of the best mill men in the State, that this company has enough contracts on hand to keep the mill in constant operation for more than a year. Contracts now on hand amount to more than $40,000. One order alone calls for a vast amount of box wood within the year's operation. The Elkins planting mill is now recognized as one of the best and most profitable plants in West Virginia.

RUSHED TO SEE DISASTER. False Report About Skyscraper Drew Big Crowd.

Pittsburg, Aug. 9.—The erroneous circulation of a report to-day that the Arrott Building, a large skyscraper at Fourth avenue and Wood street, was out of plumb and in danger of collapsing, caused thousands of persons to rush to the vicinity, effectually blocking traffic in one of the busiest portions of the city. Squads of police, under the direction of Director of Public Safety Lang, and the entire force of the bureau of building inspection, were hurried to the building. An examination of the huge structure showed it to be in first-class condition.

It was several hours before the police were able to break up the crowds of spectators. The report resulted from poor optical observations of several street surveyors.

ALLEGHENY GIRLS OBJECT TO LIGHTS IN CITY PARKS

For Why? Just Ask Policeman Feeney, Who Told Some Things, and Now Wants a Vacation and a Transfer.

Pittsburg, Aug. 9.—Special Policeman Feeney, detailed to watch the Allegheny parks, has asked for a vacation and a transfer.

Affairs are getting too warm for him. He is charged with having called the attention of Director Lang to the love-making in the dark nooks of the park. Director Lang ordered the electric lights in the park, which are about ninety feet above the ground, to be lowered, and that new arc lamps be placed in every shady corner of the parks, so as to put a stop to the teasing and squeezing which lovers are charged with having done in these parks during the late hours of the night.

Director Lang has received a score of saucy letters from girls on the North Side, who object to his mandate. Policeman Feeney has been jeered at by the girls, and has had his ears burning since he turned turtle tale, and as a result he wants another post.

Director Lang was asked if he really would order the arrest of a couple caught kissing and hugging on the park benches. He said:

"Yes; the people in the neighborhood of the parks complained of the openness with which some of the men and women act. The order was issued some time ago, and now it is going to be carried into effect."

This is what has made Policeman Feeney ask for another job, as he does not want to place the girls in the patrol wagon for love-making.

NEWS OF ALEXANDRIA

Fifteen-year-old Colored Girl Is Held for Theft.

STOLEN GOODS ARE RECOVERED

Lizzie Bank, a Domestic, Said to Have Robbed Employers at Braddock Heights—Matron of Alexandria Hospital Fires at Would-be Chicken Thief as He Climbs Fence.

WASHINGTON HERALD BUREAU, (Bell Telephone 62.) 229 King Street.

Alexandria, Va., Aug. 9.—Lizzie Banks, a fifteen-year-old colored girl, is locked up at police headquarters charged with robbing the residence of Henry Parrish, Braddock Heights, Alexandria County.

The girl was arrested shortly before 9 o'clock to-night by Lieut. Bettis and Policeman Beach, and all of the stolen goods were recovered.

Among the articles stolen were a handsome gold watch and chain, one razor, a silk dress, shoes, and a quantity of gingham. The robbery was reported to the police about 7 o'clock this evening, and at 9 o'clock the police had the girl and goods.

Lizzie was arrested at a house in South Columbus street. She had the watch, the chain was around her neck, and the razor was in her stocking. The clothing and shoes were found at an uptown boarding-house.

The girl will probably be turned over to the Alexandria County authorities to-morrow.

An unsuccessful attempt was made about 1 o'clock this morning to rob the hen house at the Alexandria Hospital. A nurse saw a man emerging from the hen house, and called Mrs. M. Adamson, the matron, who fired two shots at the chicken thief as he scaled a back fence.

James Dorsey, colored, was arrested by Policemen Beach and Nicholson to-day on suspicion of breaking into the house of David Pettit, Alexandria County. A silver watch, said to be the property of Mr. Pettit, was recovered by the police. It is said that Dorsey disposed of it to a colored man. The police also claim that he sold a ring which was stolen at the time.

Rev. W. E. Watson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, to-night preached a special sermon, entitled "The Kind of Sinners Jesus Saves." Services at Christ Protestant Episcopal Church were conducted by Rev. S. A. Wallis. At the Second Presbyterian Church the pulpit was occupied by Rev. W. H. T. Squiers.

Several residents of Alexandria County who were held up and robbed last week by negro highwaymen will appear at police headquarters to-morrow to try to identify the five negroes now in custody.

The remains of William Kirby, who died Saturday at Staunton, Va., were brought here to-day. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from the Episcopal Chapel at Woodlawn, Fairfax County, and the interment will be at that place.

William Rollins was arrested to-day by Policemen Beach, Henderson, and Sampson on a charge of disorderly conduct and assaulting Mrs. Pearl Maupin. The accused will have a hearing in the Police Court to-morrow morning.

The front end of a northbound electric train from Luna Park side-swiped the rear end of the 12:30 o'clock train from Alexandria last night. The accident happened where the tracks cross at Luna Park. As a result of the collision, the motor car of the colliding train was slightly damaged. No one was hurt.

Miss Blanche Howdershell, for several years past ticket agent for the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Electric Railway Company, at King and Columbus streets, has resigned. She will shortly leave for her home in Fauquier County, Va.

Miss Sarah Whitton, accompanied by Miss Mary Ella McDermott, is visiting relatives in Strasburg, Va.

John Whitton has gone to Colonial Beach.

The condition of Lewis Kemper, who was operated on at the Alexandria Hospital yesterday, is regarded as favorable.

Harry Davis, a negro, who recently made his escape from the chain gang, was arrested to-day by Chief Goss and Policeman Garvey.

DESERTED BRIDE OF A DAY.

After Waiting Seven Years for Home She Asks Divorce.

New York, Aug. 9.—Mrs. Annie Ferguson, who was married to James O. Ferguson, of Brooklyn, seven years ago, but lived with him only one day, has sued for divorce. She was a daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Shawcross, of Bloomfield, N. J., and says she was married to Ferguson at the house of a Methodist minister in Brooklyn after a brief acquaintance. They lived one day in that city, then he left her, and she returned to her mother.

A few days later he called and procured considerable money, saying he was going to Philadelphia to get work. The next day he heard of him he was in Brooklyn. A member of the family went there and took him to Bloomfield for a conference, at which Mrs. Ferguson declares, he absolutely refused to provide for her, saying: "I have no home for myself, and don't intend to provide one for you."

Her brother-in-law, she says, kicked him out of the house, and she has not seen him since.

WOMAN WHIPS A CONSTABLE

Chases Him Around Table with a Carving Knife.

Grabbed Her Once, but She Hit and Made Him Let Go in a Hurry.

Woodbury, Conn., Aug. 9.—A woman whom Constable Dapson was sent to arrest at Gibbeton proved more than a match for the officer, and she escaped after he had her in his clutches.

Catharine Javins was accused of stealing a gold watch, two gold chains, and $150 from an employer. The woman was in the house when Dapson went in search of her, and as he entered she was on the opposite side of a large round table. The constable explained his errand, and then started around the table after his prisoner.

At the same time she seized an iron poker and a carving knife and started for Dapson. The race around the table continued until both were out of breath. Then Dapson, making a dive under the table, seized the woman. He succeeded in disarming her, but while he was doing so she hit his hands so badly that he was obliged to let go of her.

With this the woman appeared to be reconciled to the fact that she would have to go to jail, and told Dapson that she would accompany him peacefully if he would permit her to go into her room and put some clothes in a valise.

After waiting what seemed a long while the constable made a search and found that the woman had disappeared. Neighbors say that they saw her mount a horse and ride rapidly away.

PLAN BIG CHICAGO STATION.

Northwestern's Passenger Terminal to Cost $20,000,000.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Chicago and Northwestern Railway engineers and architects have completed plans for the new Madison street passenger terminal, to cost $20,000,000, and which will provide facilities for handling 250,000 passengers every twenty-four hours.

In point of ground covered and length of trackage, this station will surpass every railway terminal in the United States. It is said, except the South station in Boston. It will occupy practically four city blocks, bounded by Madison street on the south, Kinzie street on the north, Clinton street on the west, and Canal street on the east, passing under Washington and Randolph streets by brilliantly lighted subways.

The building will be of gray granite, in classic design, the essential feature of which is the great colonnade entrance or portico that will tower to a height of 120 feet above Madison street. Before this imposing front will be a broad pavement or esplanade, from which will rise the granite columns that guard the inner vestibule.

The esplanade will be lighted by monumental bronze lamp standards, and four big clock dials, each twelve feet in diameter, will look down from the granite walls. There will be six public entrances to the buildings, and staircases will be so ample that if placed side by side, they would measure 100 feet wide. Months have been spent in negotiations for the necessary real estate, but the site now is being cleared and workmen will soon begin to sink the caissons on which the building is to rest, reaching 106 feet down to bed rock. It is hoped to have the new terminal ready for use by January, 1910.
